Plan Reception For Hungarian Refugee Family

A food benefit for the recently arrived Nicholas Kovacs family, refugees from Communist-ridden Hungary, will be held in the Frankfort village hall from 2 to 4 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 16.

Ralph Dralle, chairman of the refugee committee, who arranged to "adopt" the family, has announced that canned goods and staples to fill the family's larder will help them make a good start in America. Other members of the committee are Dorothy Woodman, Charles Lewins and Al Swatek.

The refugee family, consisting of Nicholas Kovacs, sr., 45, his wife Magdona, 27 and their three children, Clara, 13; Nicholas, jr., 10, and Victor, 6 months old, will be in attendance at the benefit so all may become acquainted with them.

The family is being sponsored by the Frankfort Methodist church and funds were raised by the committee to bring them from Camp Kilmer, N. J.

The Kovacs, who lived in Budapest, Hungary, all their lives, until fleeing across the border to escape Communist oppression on Nov. 27, are very happy. (Continued to page 16)

Army Seeks Homes For Personnel At Orland NIKE Base

Personnel at the Orland Park NIKE command are in need of living quarters, it was announced at headquarters, and the army is trying to do something about it.

The army plans to build a number of housing units in the Orland area but there will still be more personnel in search of homes than there will be homes built by the army, it was said, so an effort is being made to lease living quarters.

Some persons with rental properties have hesitated about renting to soldiers because they figured they were subject to sudden transfer. However, under the new program the owner would not lease to the individual but to the army and the army, it was stated, is prepared to sign agreements covering a 10-year period.

The homes wanted must be modern, have from two to four bedrooms, and be within 20 minutes driving time of the NIKE site.

able may contact the school directly by calling Miss Rose Sautir at Gibson 8-1520, or any of the following women who are serving on the committee with Mrs. Schreiber: Mrs. Victor Leatzow, Mrs. J. J. Kanter, Mrs. G. A. Mayhall, Mrs. Roy Loebe, Mrs. Richard Runke and Mrs. Rudolph LaVine. For further information one may contact the committee members.

The Orland Park village board has adopted a new zoning ordinance and as a result it is expected that several development plans for the community will get under way this spring.

The ordinance adopted Monday night is the second measure heard by the village planning commission. At the hearing on the original ordinance quite a number of changes were recommended. These were studied by the village board and its attorney, Raymond Pieper, and the measure finally approved was drafted.

DeSoto McCabe and Associates, planning engineers, have drawn a master use map of the Orland Park area and it is on this plan that the zoning ordinance was drawn. The village board had the assistance of the McCabe organization and Robert West, one of its engineers, is drafting the zoning measure.

Under its provisions the community is zoned in five districts, Class A and Class B, residential; Class C, commercial; Class D, light industrial; Class E, (Continued on Page 16)

Bob Miller To Erect New Building For Auto Agency

Bob Miller, who has the Mercury agency at Orland Park, has been granted a permit to erect a new building across from his present quarters. The new building, a story-and-a-half structure of brick, glass and block, will be on the north side of 143rd st.

Miller declined to quote cost figures because he does not know what they will be in the end if he follows his present plan of starting the building this year and adding another section, or possibly sections, later.

The new structure will enable him to expand his service department, Miller said, and eventually provide him with more display space.

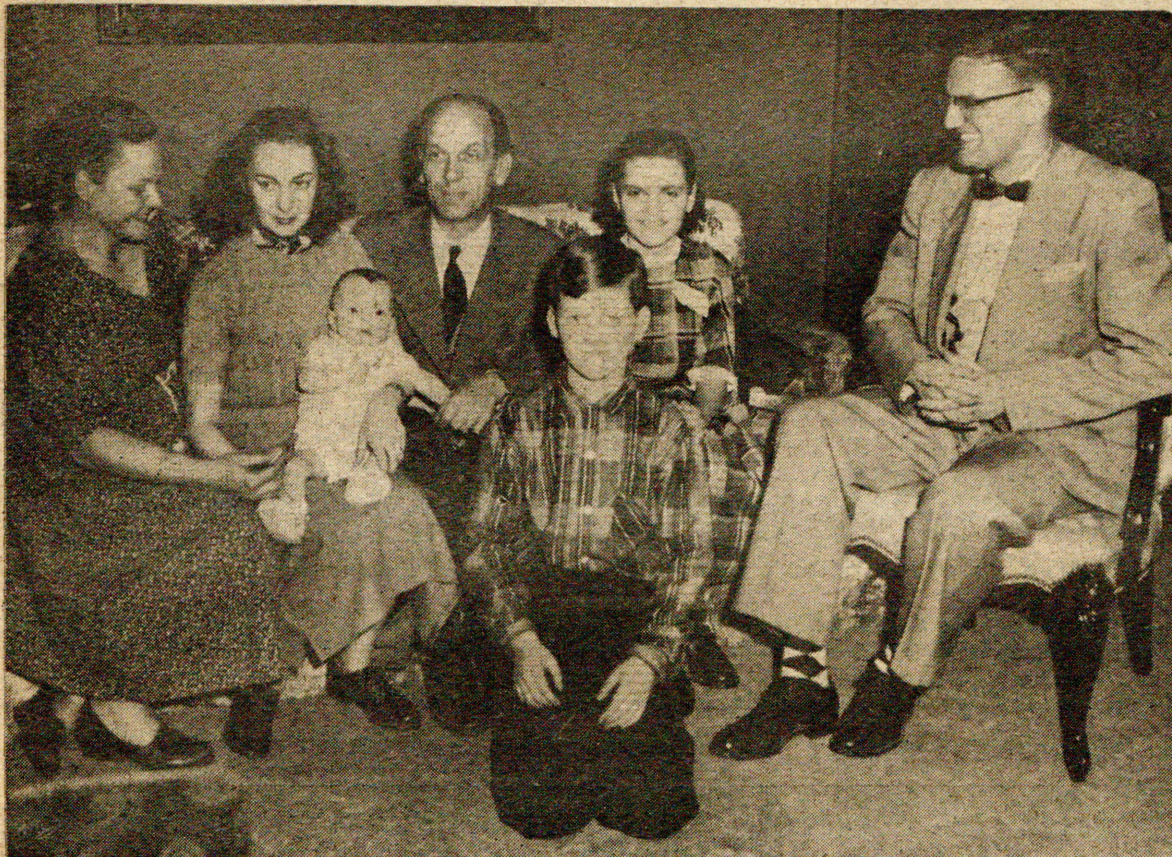

Board Answers Cry For Aid From Mud Bound Resident

When Forrest Miller, who lives at the far end of 144th st., came to the Orland Park village board meeting Monday night to ask for a load of stone of two to keep him and some neighbors from bogging down, his shoes, caked and streaked with mud water, added mute but substantiating testimony to his plea.

When his end of the road is soft, Miller said, he has to park his car on Raney's Lane and flounder his way thru the remaining block. Miller fears that unless some stone is applied to the street now he won't be able to find bottom when the spring rains begin.

The board voted to put on some stone but has to choose a time when the surface is hard enough to sustain the weight of a truck.

of the dinner, which will be served by members of the Methodist church WSCS circles.

Free at last from the Red terror which had gripped their lives and land for so long, the Miklos Kovacs family who fled Hungary during the last outbreak of Russian savagery, are now settled in their new home at Frankfort. They are happy and very grateful for the hospitality shown them. This picture was taken in the home of Mrs. Robert Burns, where the family stayed until their apartment was ready for them last Saturday. Adopt Caucus System to Select Candidates for Sandburg Board

The community caucus system designed to screen, select and recommend candidates for the Carl Sandburg high school board was set in motion Monday night.

Some 200 persons attended the meeting at Sandburg high school Monday night to formally adopt the caucus system. Thirty four organizations were represented by 68 delegates—two for each one—and there were eight alternate delegates also present.

The Carl Sandburg high school board, which had its regular meeting Monday night, adjourned in time to attend the caucus.

A nominating committee was named to select candidates for final approval at a meeting of the caucus delegates to be held at 8 o'clock the night of Feb. 25, at the high school.

Petitions for the recommended candidates will be signed and then filed with the clerk of the board.

First day for filing such petitions is Feb. 27; final day for filing is March 21.

Formation of the caucus system, it was pointed out, is not a bar to anyone who wished to become a candidate for the high school board. Anyone who wants to run for the office need only be a citizen and qualified voter of the district. To get his name on the ballot all he has to do is get a nominating petition filled out with the requisite number of names and file it with the board clerk within the prescribed time limit.

The caucus system was advocated by the Carl Sandburg PTA. It is in use in some other districts and supporters of the plan say that it is a means of getting better candidates.

J. E. Pease, superintendent of schools at LaGrange and Donald Dickson, a resident of Park Ridge, both addressed the meeting Monday night on their experience. (Continued on Page 16)

Feb. 25 Last Day to File for Village Offices

A week from Monday, Feb. 25, is the last day for filing nominating petitions for village office and as yet no one has filed in Orland Park, according to Bretland A. Blair, village clerk.

From other sources, however, it was learned that the incumbents whose terms expire this spring, with the exception of Mr. Blair, will be candidates for re-election.

They are: For mayor, W. R. Schussler, Jr.

For trustees: Joseph Lebens, Earl F. Moore and I. A. Cleveland.

For police magistrate, Albert F. Wheeler.

They will all run on one ticket.

Mr. Blair announced that he would not be a candidate for clerk again. Considerable pressure was applied to get Blair to change his mind but he declined to seek re-election.

Nominating petitions are available at the office of the village clerk.

State Had Billion In Treasury Jan. 31

State Treasurer Elmer J. Hoffman's first monthly report in his second term of office shows that the state treasury had cash and securities amounting to $1,220,500,981.09 as of Jan. 31, 1957.

Cash receipts for January were $125,588,947.64 and disbursements were $94,432,708.59.

Sandburg PTA Seeks Homes For Teachers

The shortage of rental units available in the Carl Sandburg high school area for teachers, especially in the price range they can afford, prompted the PTA board to appoint a committee to study this problem. Mrs. Paul Schreiber of Palos Park is chairman of the group.

In a meeting with the committee, Supt. W. O. Fisher pointed out that one of the major problems facing high school administrators is the procurement of a good teaching staff, and that the lack of housing in this area has prompted prospective teachers to turn down invitations to teach at Sandburg. He further stated that many teachers who would like to live in the school district and take an active part in community affairs must secure housing at distant points and commute back and forth, thus limiting their value to the community.

Additional housing pressure has been created by the demands of personnel at the army NIKE bases and Argonne National Laboratories, in an area of homes which has few rental units. Altho Sandburg teachers' salaries compare favorably with those in other areas, they are not large enough to compete with personnel receiving rent subsidies, or with personnel in professions which are much more remunerative, it was stated.

The committee's first objective is to make the community aware of this problem. It asks home owners to give preference to teachers as renters and to keep the school informed of available units. A study of what other communities have done in similar situations to alleviate teacher housing shortages will be made, and an action program will be recommended.

People who have units avail-

The affair will be held in the American Legion hall in Peotone and their only child Luella and her husband Henry Smith will assist in receiving their many friends and relatives.

Mrs. Sarah Heusner, 70, was born in Peotone township, Jan. 7, 1887, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nick Hauert. Mr. Heusner, 77, was born in Germany Oct. 18, 1880 and came as an infant to this country with his parents, the late William Heusners.

It was Feb. 27, 1907 when they were married and set up house-keeping on a farm near Peotone where they lived until 1915. Ewe Has Twins, Far, Far Apart

When Harold Mohny, whose farm is on Bruce road in Homer township, looked over his sheep Jan. 20 he was glad to see that one of the ewes had added a fine frisky lamb to the number.

But when on Feb. 7, Mr. Mohny, saw another lamb and with the same ewe, in the same separate pen, he rubbed his eyes and said, "I don't believe it."

But seeing AND feeling is believing. There was the ewe and there were the two lambs and all appeared to be satisfied that

Hold Rites for L. W. Habenicht, Crash Victim

Funeral services were held yesterday for Louis W. Habenicht, 55, of Homer township, who died Saturday night, Feb. 9 at Silver Cross hospital as a result of injuries suffered in a 2-car crash Feb. 2, that had already claimed one life.

Removal was to the Schmadeke funeral home at Orland Park where friends called until yesterday. Services were held at Christ Lutheran church, Orland Park, at 2 o'clock with the Rev. Adolph Lach officiating. Burial was in Mt. Vernon cemetery, 119th and old Archer road.

Mr. Habenicht was a passenger in a car driven by Henry G. Obermayer, Sr., 47, of Joliet, apparently enroute home. Mrs. Obermayer was also a passenger. The car was traveling north on Archer road (Route 4-A) and just north of Lockport at 151st st., it was struck head on by a south-bound car that is alleged to have made a sharp turn with the intention of going east on 151st.

Obermayer was instantly killed and his wife, Habenicht, and the driver of the other car, Manuel Andradi, 39, Chicago, seriously injured. The injured were taken to Silver Cross hospital. Mrs. Obermayer and Andradi are still there.

Habenicht suffered head injuries and compound fractures of both legs. He died a week later without having regained consciousness.

Mr. Habenicht was born in Orland Park, Sept. 3, 1901, and had lived all his life in the Orland-Homer area. A few years ago he and his wife, the former Verna Reed, built a new home on Hill Crest road near 143rd street. Mr. Habenicht was an electrician and was employed by the Material Service Co. at Lockport.

Besides his wife he is survived by two daughters, Joyce, a student nurse; Judy, a pupil at Reed school; three sons, Roger, a student at Joliet Junior college, and Ronald and Richard, who go to Reed school; seven brothers, John and Albert of Blue Island, Christ of Orland; August, of Tinley Park; Carol of Harvey, and Emil and Harold of Chicago; and five sisters, Mrs. Lena Krohn, of Blue Island; Mrs. Marie Istel, Orland; Mrs. Anne Furkhardt, of Mokena; Mrs. Hattie Breuning, of Tinley Park and Mrs. Rena Ruder, of Harvey.

Distributes City Sales Tax

City sales tax collection during December, which represented the one-half cent levy on business transacted in November, netted Illinois municipalities $3,978,953, according to the report of the state department of revenue.

The gross collection was $4,232,929 but the state takes 6% of the whole as a fee for handling the money.

There were 876 municipalities in the state that assessed the half-cent sales tax in November, an increase of 20 over the preceding month. By Jan. 16 the list had grown to 906. The municipalities get the money the third month after the month for which the collection is made.

The amounts due municipalities in this area for November are:

Mokena, $784; Frankfort, $801; New Lenox, $789; Orland Park, $504; Tinley Park, $2001; Markham, $582; Oak Forest, $659; Oak Lawn, $7475; Midlothian, $2,224; Blue Island, $12,917; Chicago Heights, $21,039; Park Forest, $8,415; Evergreen Park, $16,181; Harvey, $14,582; Dolton, $2,313; Hazel Crest, $494; Lockport, $2,815 and Joliet, $49,480.

they belonged together. All three are doing fine.

Mr. Mohny confessed that arrival of the lambs over such a wide period had startled him no end. No doubt if the ewe could speak English she would have expressed a similar sentiment.

... Services Above and Beyond the Call of Duty

Mokena grade school system is now operating two schools, the new one having been put in use Monday of this week. The new building which is located west of Wolf road on Second st., houses the first three grades and one of two fourth grade classes. Move to the new building was made last week-end and a lot of work became extracurricular activity for some of the teaching staff. Shown here in a corridor of the new building taking a breather from the task of dusting and straightening are, (l to r) Joyce Drotts, New Lenox, third grade teacher; Elizabeth Capel, superintendent, James Wrath, assistant, and Mary Cele Burke, second grade teacher. No scholastic credits are given nor letters awarded for doing these chores. (Semmler Press Photo)

Will Begin Survey In Connection With Proposed Mausoleum

A preliminary survey will start in the Mokena area within the next few days in connection with the community mausoleum to be constructed in the St. John's cemetery.

The mausoleum is being financed by John R. Lilly, of River Forest.

A canvass of the community will be made and pictures shown explaining what the mausoleum is, describing the aspects of this type of burial. The survey is necessary because in the proposed type of mausoleum to be constructed, space is only included for those desiring it.

Mrs. Willis Liston, of Mokena, is the local representative for the mausoleum project.

She has explained that inquiries about the project or having the mausoleum explained to them, will in no way obligate anyone.

When the survey is completed arrangements for construction of the mausoleum will be made.

A Town Is As Good As Its Leaders

Within four years Tinley Park will have emerged from its cocoon state and have spread its wings to cover a greatly extended area. Three large housing developments will probably have added 1,000 more homes to the community.

Tinley leaders foreseeing the problems arising from such growth, have been judiciously working and planning to engineer a successful plan of action to forestall such problems as mushroom building and erection of future slums. These are the men whose only reward is the satisfaction of developing a well-planned community.

A wise choice has been made in selecting village engineers who are experienced in town planning and are high class craftsmen.

Harmonious relationship and teamwork between all elected and civic bodies is necessary to achieve this objective, with no stars playing major roles. It would hamper future progress and block development if a few selfish individuals were allowed to hurt others in their mad scramble to reach the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Tinley Park is fortunate to have leaders of integrity and wisdom who will fight to avoid this.

Sewerage, an ugly subject even at its best, has been much in the news in Tinley recently. From underground mutterings and dissatisfaction within the ranks, it would seem all is not sewerage that smells.

Within the next two months village elections will come to the fore. There will be a conflict for village offices, including mayor, four village trustees and village clerk. These are the men who will guide Tinley Park for the next four years.

Consider your candidates well. Get to know them and make your decision. But most important of all, if you are not registered, do so and GET OUT AND VOTE!

Letters to the Editor

On behalf of our hundreds of disabled employees, I would greatly appreciate the opportunity to enlist the aid of your news paper to express our sincere thanks and grateful appreciation to our many friends in your community who have so generously donated repairable clothing and varied usable discards to the Goodwill Industries of Chicago.

Without the kind assistance of our material contributors, our handicapped workers would not have the opportunity to gain the self respect that can only result from the gainful employment that Goodwill offers.

The winter months are generally unproductive as to the intake of materials at the Goodwill plant. Without sufficient materials to repair, many of our workers face the possibility of unemployment.

We are therefore appealing to the Chicagoland public to rummage thru their closets for any and all types of repairable clothing that would not only serve to keep the jobs of our handicapped workers secure but will enable Goodwill to provide employment for the numerous disabled on our waiting list.

A phone call too SEELY 8-3860 will bring a Goodwill truck to pickup materials we so urgently need.

We will be grateful for any assistance that may be extended to us.

CRITICIZE POLICE

Dear Editor:

I read with interest a letter signed "Interested Citizen" in your paper recently.

The writer said we had a good police department and Chamber of Commerce. To me, calling something "good" does not make it so. I'm from Missouri and like to be shown. I would like some concrete evidence.

The Chamber of Commerce reveal their workings publicly and citizens are kept informed. I am not a member, but do know that it is composed of the best men in our community. I agree with "Interested Citizen" the leaders are men of high calibre.

However, I do not know if we have a good police department or not. The only news we ever read about them is in connection with their extra-curricular activities. I would feel much safer if the police chief had his picture taken sometimes with a criminal he has captured, than to find him so frequently pictured at various affairs.

I may be unfair, but I am not stupid. Tinley is a small town and the report on most crimes are spread by word of mouth. Citizens buy your paper to read the details of these crimes, but for some reason or another are always disappointed.

Is it because you are in cahoots with the police department not to publish any crimes unless solved by the local police? Or is it because they are all committed by juveniles who must be protected until reaching man's estate.

The police department is seeking additional men and an increase in salary. If crime is almost non-existent, why do they need them?

As a taxpayer, I deplore the practice of the police department allowing the squad car to continually park outside the police station and other business establishments in the village with the motor running and no policemen in sight.

If they were using the gas to patrol village streets, citizens would feel much safer, but to leave the squad car running idly for long periods of time is a waste of the taxpayer's money.

I would like someone to give me concrete evidence that we have a good police department in Tinley Park.

AN INQUIRING CITIZEN

ABOUT DOGS

Editor:

I am writing this letter to you with the hope it will be read by dog owners who walk their pets on a leash and allow them to stop on neighbors' lawns and driveways. It is a deplorable situation and disgusting to these home owners who are given the job of cleaning up.

The police department has done a good job of keeping Tinley streets free of stray dogs.

These thoughtless dog owners who show no respect for other peoples' property, also let their pets clutter up the streets. This is a menace to health, and with the coming of summer the situation will be much worse.

We hope this will make them aware of the fact they are becoming a public nuisance and make them realize the place for their dogs is on their own property where they can take care of them.

P.T.A. News

Orland Park Unit

The regular monthly meeting of the Orland Park Parent Teacher association of district 19 was held in the school, Wednesday evening, Feb. 6 at 8 p. m. with Mrs. Joseph Kaiser, president, presiding.

The meeting was opened with the presentation of Colors led by Scout Bob Kaiser who was assisted by Scouts Mark Bader, Charles Halvorson and John Taylor. A prayer was given by the Rev. H. N. Huxhold.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Ralph Town and Mrs. Robert Ebeling were appointed as delegates to the caucus meet at Carl Sandburg. Mrs. R. Mueller was appointed as an alternate. A PTA nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. Orville Schmaedeke, Mrs. Frank Buck and Mrs. R. J. Mueller, was also appointed. They will make their report at the March meeting.

At this time, Mrs. Hans Bader introduced panel members, Mrs. Harry Anderson, representing the 4H club, Mrs. Franklin Loebe the Brownies; Roy Benson, Cub Scouts, Elmer Libner, Small Fry and Babe Ruth leagues; and Mr. Stejeskal of the YMCA. The Rev. Mr. Huxhold was moderator. An interesting question and answer period followed in which each panel member discussed the aim of their group for the individual and for the community; the equipment necessary for each group and how acquired; the hinderances to their organization as well as the advantages. It was the general feeling of the panel that more parental leadership was the vital need of these groups.

A social hour brought the evening to a close, with the valentine theme being carried out by the fourth grade mothers who served as hostesses.

Mrs. Elinor Gower, third grade teacher, who recently resigned to live in Racine, Wis., was presented with an electric kitchen clock by her class. Mrs. R. E. Nickle and Mrs. Mueller, room mothers, made the presentation, Thursday afternoon, Jan. 31.

"What do you understand by the term 'insurance agent'?" was asked recently of Chicago citizens. Surprisingly, the agent's position as an advisor or counselor on insurance matters was largely unknown, or ignored, by the great majority.

Yet this role is an important, every day, part of our business. We want you to know that we will be glad to discuss your insurance requirements any time.

In the same survey, 50% gave as one of their chief reasons for buying insurance from their agent "assurance of prompt and fair claim handling." And 48% mentioned "faith and trust in the company or agent."

I'm sure much the same answers would be given here. At least many of our clients have volunteered high praise for our prompt and careful attention to all losses. And most of them place faith in our insurance recommendations. They like the SERVICE our agency provides.

Naturally, we are proud of their confidence. And, we'd like to extend a "welcome" to you. Drop by our office and get acquainted.

New Girl Scout Troop

A new Intermediate Girl Scout troop has been formed in Tinley Park under the joint leadership of Mrs. Meri Anderson and Mrs. Florence VerWey. The troop will be No. 283, and will meet Wednesday in the Municipal building. A fly up ceremony was held Feb. 7 at which time 16 Brownies from various troops participated. Five new members were taken into the new troop. A financial drive is under way, and the first project will be a newspaper collection in the near future.

Pack 272, Tinley

75 Cubs and leaders of Cub Pack 272 were guests of the Indoor-Outdoor Polo Corp., Saturday evening, Feb. 9 at the Chicago Armory. An exciting time was had by all and the team the Ranchers, for which they were rooting, came thru with a 12 to 8 win.

Cubmaster Charles Moore was proud of the way in which the cubs handled themselves and hoped to be able to take them to more sporting events.

Many parents of the cubs went along, and it proved to be a worth while event for all.

Cubmaster Charles Moore wants to thank Jacobs and Copalillo and the F&M Cleaners for making their windows available for display of the Pack 272 during Scouting week. The window committee composed of Mesdames Harriet Naughton, Norma Hayes and Jessie Blitvich did a very fine window display of the Pack's flags, trophies, special features and boys' handicraft.

The next pack meeting for Troop 272 will be held Feb. 19 in the Tinley Park school gym at 7 pm.

Mokena Grade School Cagers Take 3 Games

The undefeated Mokena Meteors, the grade school basketball team, have run their string of victories to 13 straight for the season, nine of which have been in conference play as they defeated three more DesPlaines Valley foes this month.

The Meteorites, as the lightweights are known, kept pace by winning the three this played thus far this month. The Meteorites have undisputed possession of first place in the DesPlaines Valley conference but the Meteorites share the lead in the lightweight division with Frankfort. The Meteorites have lost one game this year, to Frankfort, by one point.

The Meteorites have been finding the competition stiffer and the last three triumphs have been hard fought. Manhattan fell 13 to 14 Feb. 1 after playing a stalling game that saw Mokena behind 8 to 4 at the half. Muehler's 10 points pulled that one out of the fire.

Channahon proved equally as tough on Feb. 5, falling only after a bitter battle 16 to 13. The Meteorites led comfortably 9 to 3 at the quarter but found points hard to get after that as Channahon narrowed the gap to 12 to 11 at the end of three quarters. A basket by Sheridan finally clinched the decision.

The Meteorites downed Laraway 18 to 12 Feb. 8 in a game which saw both teams fail to score in the third quarter. Mokena jumped off to an 8 to 0 lead in the first period on baskets by Johnson and Sheridan. The score at half time was 14 to 7 and remained that way thru the frigid third period. The Meteorites could manage only 4 points in the last period but Laraway was little better scoring 5. Johnson led the scoring with nine points.

The Meteors took their 11th in a row by beating back the challenge of Manhattan 30 to 17. The first half was closely played with Mokena on top 10 to 6. The tempo stepped up in the third period with the Meteors finally pulling away 20 to 8. The fourth quarter was evenly played. Kruzich was high point man with 15.

Victory number 12 was notched against Channahon 42 to 21. Yunker hit three quick baskets and Kruzich got two to send the Meteors out to a 12 to 2 lead. This grew to 23 to 7 at half-time and 32 to 11 at the end of three periods. Kruzich paced the victory with 16 points.

Last Friday's triumph over Laraway was one of the closest games of the year for the Meteorites. The final score was 41 to 31 but the first half was a nip and tuck contest. Kruzich hit Mokena led 10 to 5 at the end of the first period.

Laraway stormed back to tie the game at 14 all. The Meteors then turned on the heat and scored four straight baskets to run the count to 22 to 14 at the half. The Meteors pushed their advantage to 32 to 22 as the third period ended. Laraway matched Mokena's fourth quarter total but they were never able to close the gap. Kruzich was high with 20 points, Yunker scored 15 to insure the Meteorites their perfect record.

Three conference games remain to be played to complete the schedule. Mokena travels to Troy tomorrow night, Feb. 15.

Bremen's basketball team again had a successful week-end on the home court. In the five games played the past week-end, BCHS won all five.

On Friday night, Feb. 8, the Braves belted the visiting Rams of Reavis by a score of 77-63 to strengthen their hold on second place in the Southwestern Suburban conference race.

The forwards told the story for Bremen as junior star Dale Hartwig played his usual flawless game. Richard Tindall, the other forward, also gave a brilliant performance in last week's games.

Bremen led most of the way, falling behind only once, quite briefly, in the second half. Ken Quain, Reavis guard was the main factor in keeping the Rams within striking distance. Quain had 32 points.

Dale Hartwig led the Braves in scoring with 28, and Richard Tindall poured in 21.

Bremen's improved frosh-soph rolled on to an easy 54-37 victory in the opener. The score was close at the end of the half, but in the third period southpaw sophomore Bob Rodger took charge of Bremen's basket and the Braves pulled away fast. Rodger took scoring honors with 20 points. Wally Egger, 5' 10" guard and his dead-eye jump shot collected a total of 17 points.

On Saturday morning the Bremen freshman team improved their conference record by one more win. They beat Oak Lawn 39 to 37.

Saturday evening marked two more victories for the fighting Braves. The varsity whipped visiting Thornton Fractional 68-63 in a thrilling non-conference tilt. This was the 6th victory in the last seven games for the Braves.

Bremen lead all the way, as senior center Bill Birkhead tossed in 19 points to lead Bremen's scoring. He also played a great defensive game. Dale Hartwig and Jerry O'Neil collected 16 points apiece. High scorers for Fractional were Sidkey with 25 points and Hollingsworth with 17.

The dazzling little Braves of Bremen swept past Thornton Fractional with a score of 58-52. This was the seventh consecutive triumph for the red hot frosh-soph team. Again Bob Rodger took charge of the Bremen offense. Rodger arched two consecutive 35-foot set shots. Rodger carried off scoring honors with 16 points. Tall freshman center Jim Mifflin carried 14 points for the total count.

Last Friday night the Lincoln-Way Knights lost to the Oak Lawn Spartans by a score of 60-50 in a game played at Oak Lawn.

In the first quarter the Spartans scored 18 points while the Knights netted 11, ten of which were tallied by Hank Jensen. The second quarter wasn't much better for L-W, as the Spartans again scored 18 points while the Knights scored 12 making the half-time score Oak Lawn 36, Lincoln-Way 23.

In the third quarter Lincoln-Way in high spirits outscored the Spartans by seven points 19 to 12. Oak Lawn held L-W to eight points in the fourth frame while they scored 12 to win the game 60-50.

Free throws accounted for 12 of the Spartans' 60 points while the Knights had only four. The Spartans ended up with a 70% free throw average and the Knights with 36%.

High scorer for Lincoln-Way was Henry Jensen with 28 points. McGee netted 28 points also, to be high scorer for the Spartans.

The Lincoln-Way frosh-soph were defeated by Oak Lawn 61-40, in the curtain raiser.

Heavy fouling by the Knights allowed the Spartans to attempt 52 free throw, making 33 of them. The Knights only scored eight points by free throws, thus the heavy fouling and fairly high free throw average, 64% won the game for the Spartans.

High scorers were Schroeder for the Knights with ten points, and Hendricks for the Spartans with 13 points.

Tomorrow night, February 15, the Knights will travel to Peotone to meet the Blue Devils in what promises to be a good game. On February 22, a week from tomorrow, the Knights will play their last onference game against Rich on the L-W court. This is to be the last game of this season until the Knights play the Bloom Trojans in the Joliet district tournament on March 4.

State Prep Cage Finals To be Telecast

Basketball fans over most of the state will have front-row seats by television again this year for the finals of the Illinois high school basketball tournament.

This was announced today by Albert Willis, executive secretary of the Illinois High School association. The four final games are scheduled for Saturday, March 23. WBKB-TV (Channel 7) will serve the Chicago outlet.

This is the sixth year the tournament has been on TV. The telecast will be sponsored by Illinois Bell Telephone Co.—originators of the telecast in 1952.

Television has made it possible for millions more people to follow the action and excitement of the tournament. Only about 6,900 can be accommodated in Huff Gymnasium in Champaign to see the games in person, but an estimated 2,500,000 will see the four semi-final and final games on TV.

The semi-finals will be on the air from 1:00 to 4:30 in the afternoon. The evening telecast of the third-place and championship games will start at 7:30.

SPORTS TALK

The 24th annual Chicago national boat show got off to a fine start opening night (Feb. 8) and the first nighters were treated to sights never before seen at any boat show. One of the highlights that attracted a lot of attention was the 29,900 square feet of indoor lake, complete with life size boats, a dock sand beach with a background of flowers and trees, a clubhouse with a veranda, free movie theatre, and a 15,000 gallon swimming pool. It was built to demonstrate a typical waterfront facility of a mythical "Hometown Boat club". Demonstrations of water safety and boat handling plus live entertainment are conducted at the pool while nautical shows are held daily on the sand beach to provide continuous daily entertainment.

Another highlight of the exhibit is a 14 by 14 foot illuminated map showing the waterways and boating facilities in Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Illinois. A boater wishing to know where he can launch navigate or store his craft in any of these states just pushes the appropriate button and the information is shown by means of lights on the map.

There's a boat for every budget, from build-it-yourself kit boats selling for fifty dollars to luxurious sea-going cruisers bearing a price tag of about $35,000. In between these two extremes, there are hundreds of models to suit every need and every pocketbook.

All in all, it's a great show—full of interesting exhibits and loaded with entertainment. Try and visit it some night before it closes on Feb. 17. You'll be glad you did. It's at the International Amphitheatre in Chicago.

Our sports question for today was sent in by R. T. Here it is: Q. Has any fighter ever won more than three championships?

A. Yes, Henry Armstrong who quit the ring to become a minister won the lightweight, welterweight, featherweight, and the bantamweight titles. He is the only fighter who ever accomplished such a feat.

For that question, R. T. will receive a sports gift he'll treasure. You can win one, too. Here is how you do it—send in a sports question and if we decide yours has the most general interest, you'll receive a sports gift absolutely free. Send your sports question today to: "Sports Talc," 218 East Ontario St., Chicago.

(You can hear Jack Maypole daily (M-F) at 8:40 a.m. over radio station WJJD).

Sports Cars, Old and New, Will Be Shown March 2-24

"Sports Cars in Review," the nation's only auto show devoted entirely to sports models, will open at Henry Ford Museum, March 2 and continue thru March 24.

The sixth annual exhibit will bring more than 55 cars from Italy, England, Germany and the United States. Some foreign cars will be shown for the first time in this country.

Several old models in the display will permit a contrast with today's sleek versions, and at the same time show the evolution of the sports car.

Early American cars will include an early Simplex, Mercer, a 1924 Marmon and a 1925 Stutz.

Bremen High School Notes

The modern day "cyclops" which sits in almost every house hold in the country is now in use at the Bremen Community high school. The television set, purchased by the Board of Education, is the newest addition to the audio-visual aids department.

The machine is presently being used to present to those students chosen for their ability and interest in the field of physics, a series of eighty one one-half hour kino scoped programs aired from Chicago's educational TV station, WTTW, Channel 11. These classes were not formed as a substitute for regular physics classes, but to provide an enrichment of the classroom courses.

The series of programs, filmed in California, concentrate on experiments and demonstrations that use expensive equipment of ten impossible for the average high school to provide. Altho no credit for the course is being given by the high school, the experiment, if successful, will pave the road to further courses taught in this manner.

The series is sponsored by the Chicago board of education.

The Midlothian police department will sponsor an essay contest for students of the Bremen Community high school, during the balance of the month of February, it was announced today by T. R. Birkhead, Superintendent of BCHS.

The contest is open to all grade levels of the high school. The essay is to be written on the subject "Traffic Law Enforcement. What is it? Why is it important?" It must be turned into the office of the superintendent not later than 4 o'clock Monday, Feb. 28. The paper will be judged on expression of thought, grammar, spelling, punctuation and neatness. Only one essay from each student will be accepted.

There will be two classes of winners. The first prize for the boys will be a wrist watch appropriately engraved with "First Prize M.P.D. Essay Contest 1957.55 Second and third prizes for the boys will be fountain pen and pencil sets. First prize for the girls also will be a wrist watch suitably engraved. Second and third prizes for the girls will also be fountain pen and pencil sets.

Handy Jim's FIX-UP TIPS For the Home

How to Protect Wood When Pulling a Nail

A common problem in any household is how to pull a nail without damaging finished wood surfaces. Popular Mechanics suggests the following solution, as illustrated:

Take a rubber plate scraper and slot it as shown.

When a nail is pulled, the hammer head is rested on the scraper blade.

For a larger shield, the home craftsman can cut a section from an old rubber sink pad or car floor mat.

Lincoln and the Tools of War Provide Theme for New Book

BY JOHN ALLEN
(Southern Illinois University)

Another anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth was observed this week, and another year accordingly is added to the Lincoln legend.

During this past year several books and other publications about Lincoln have appeared, and still others are in preparation. As the many-sided genius of the man is explored his greatness increases. It becomes easier to understand why more has been published concerning him than about any other man in history unless it be about the Apostle Paul.

One of the books published during the year tells of the influence that Lincoln sought to exert in the selection of the actual tools with which the war was fought. While it reveals his rare insight into the problems of waging a successful war with improved devices and weapons, it also points to the apparent utter lack of imagination on the part of some of the principal men who directed military affairs.

It is not strange that Lincoln would be interested in the tools to be used. Several incidents in his earlier years may help to explain this interest. First, his father as a competent carpenter and cabinet maker, and the boy helped him in this work. From his boyhood, Lincoln had been acquainted with the rifle and was skilled in its use. It was the ingenious manner in which he got his flatboat over the dam at New Salem that first brought him to the attention of the men there.

Then there are letters and accounts of other lawyers who rode the judicial circuits with Lincoln that tell of his custom, when opportunity came of pausing to carefully and thoroughly inspect any new piece of machinery he found. He prepared and delivered a lecture entitled, "Discoveries and Inventions." As an attorney he was interested in some patent cases.

In 1849, Lincoln drew the plans, constructed the necessary model, and was granted a patent for an apparatus to float flatboats over shoals. Thus it can be seen that he came to the presidency with more than the average understanding of things mechanical and scientific. It was well that he did.

When Lincoln began the duties of president he found a chaotic situation. Many of the more able military men were resigning their commissions to cast their lot with their native states. Others were hesitant concerning the course they would pursue, some permanently leaving the service rather than be partisan. This left a group, many of them older and somewhat stodgy minded but definitely loyal. It was to this group that the president had to choose his trained military advisers.

In some of his selections from those available, Mr. Lincoln was indeed fortunate. One of his most competent, trusted and valuable aids was commander John A. Dahlgren, chief ordnance officer of the Washington-Naval Yard, then as now the place where naval cannons made. It was this Dahlgren who designed the famous Dahlgren gun and for whom the Hamilton county, Illinois village was named.

Another trusted and competent helper and adviser was Captain Stephen Vincent Benet at West Point, grandfather of the poet bearing the same name. The approval of either of these men concerning arms often attracted more than casual attention of the 'stodgy minded' ones. Armament carried great weight with the president. On problems lying outside the fields mentioned, Lincoln most often turned to the noted scientist, Dr. Henry, able director of the Smithsonian Institute. It was with him that the president personally worked in testing flashing calcium lights for night signalling. Dr. Henry also advocated an "air force" of balloons for regular reconnaissance.

Not all the president's were so helpful as those named. Among those who hampered progress, often apparently on purpose, were Simon Cameron, secretary of war, and Brig. Gen. James W. Ripley, chief of ordnance. Cameron's usefulness was also lessened by his incompetence and political maneuvering. Ripley's decision sometimes appear to have been arrived at because of his petulance, salvery to precedent, jealousy, or plain vindictiveness. His office gave him great power to help or hinder as he chose.

New weapons, particularly rifles and carbines, were often personally tested by the president and some helper, perhaps a secretary, a private soldier, or even the inventor. It was a common sight to see the president and one of his secretaries trudging toward some open space where a satisfactory range could be found. On one such occasion a corporal with a squad of soliders came to enforce the ruling that firearms must not be discharged within the city, only to find that the violator was the president stolidly firing away at a target set against a nearby woodpile. The squad quickly withdrew. Lincoln turned to his secretary who was helping with the test and dryly remarked, "They might have stayed and seen the shooting."

Sometimes tests and demonstrations were made before larger groups that might include the president, cabinet members, generals, senators, officers, and important citizens. These were sometimes called "champagne experiments." Before such groups they tested larger guns, rockets, incendiary shells, flame throwers, steam guns, centrifugal guns, the breech-loading machine gun to which Lincoln gave the name of "coffee mill gun," the breech loading cannon, mortars, and submarines.

One "Submarine No. 12" is recorded as docking for repairs at the Mound City yard near Cairo in 1863.

Thru at least the first two years of the war, the president was constantly best by those wishing to interest him in their favorite project. To most of these Mr. Lincoln listened patiently and considerately. Others were disposed of more promptly. One promoter of armored vests was invited to "put it on, go out there and let them shoot at you." (Likewise credited to Wellington.)

Perhaps the president was most disappointed at his failure to have the army equipped with breech loading rifles and cannon. His advocacy of the breech loading rifle was repeatedly justified. Particularly was this true at Gettysburg when one company equipped with these arms held General Sickles' force at bay forty minutes, just long enough to allow the Union forces to deploy to receive their attack. Perhaps this was the most critical forty minutes of the entire battle.

Time has demonstrated that Mr. Lincoln was far in advance of his time in his thinking concerning the usefulness of military devices.

OUR MIDDLE-EAST BLUNDERS

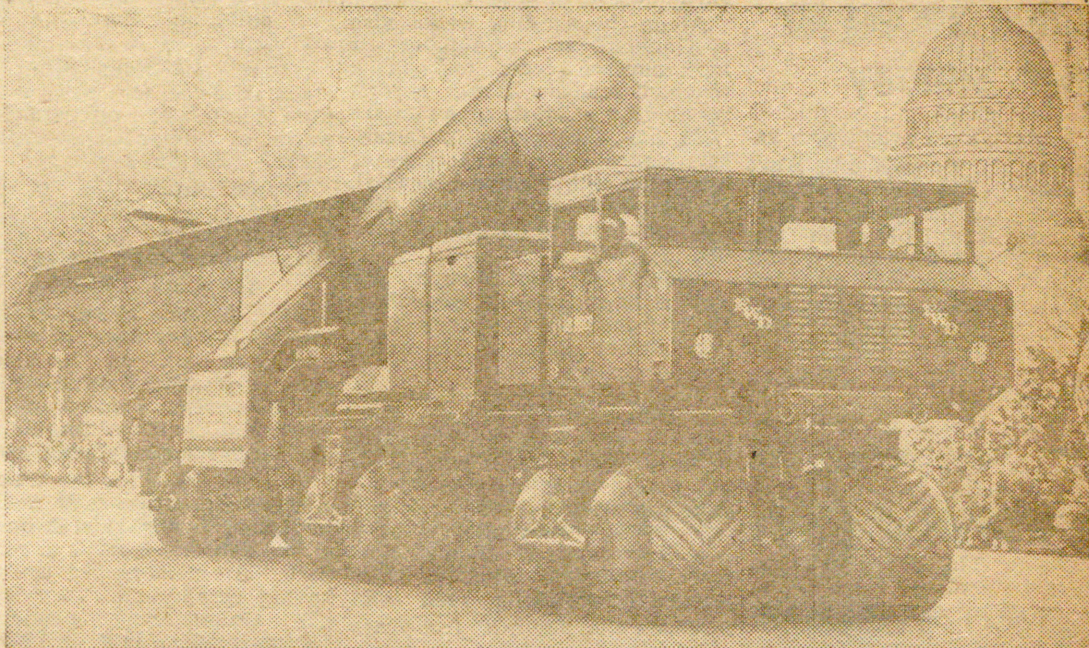

When Nassar, the little Egyptian dictator—following in the footsteps of Soviet dictators—seized the Suez Canal, he violated an international treaty he had signed, thereby repudiating his own solemn promise. His act, the arbitrary seizure of an international artery of commerce belonging to other nations, was the act of a world brigand.

Secretary Dulles failed to denounce Nassar's act, thereby indirectly condoning it. Dulles, however, did call a conference of the countries using the canal to discuss the matter, but the conclusions reached at the conference were scoffed at by Nassar and contemptuously rejected. In effect, he dared the USERS to do anything about it.

The oil supply of Europe being threatened, England and France—the principal owners of the canal—undertook military

Matador Missile Gets 'Pillow' Ride on

AIR FORCE'S NEW TERACRUZER

Rolling on barrel-like "pillow tires," this unusual FWD Teracruzer truck and Translauncher semi-trailer are the Air Force's newest vehicles for transporting and launching the new TM-61B Matador guided missile. The multi-purpose Teracruzer, built by Four Wheel Drive Auto Company, has driving power to all eight truck tires. Its Terra-Tires carry only 3 to 15 pounds of air pressure, depending upon terrain conditions. The vehicle, shown against backdrop of nation's Capitol during President Eisenhower's second Inaugural Parade, can blaze its own trail to off-road Matador launching sites.

action against Nassar. Then secretary Dulles convened the UN Assembly and succeeded in getting the Assembly to label both England and France as "aggressors", forcing them to withdraw their troops or "lose face" with the other nations of the UN. This action gave Nassar a complete victory. Now instead of showing gratitude, Nassar joins the Soviet group and becomes an ally of Russia.

The real danger in the Middle-East is not Soviet aggression; it is Soviet infiltration, peaceful penetration, Soviet subversion—the successful program Russia has been using for the past decade. It has been: First, infiltration; second, subversion; and third, a puppet government with a Communist dictator at its head. That is how Russia has been operating ever since World War II.

Congress is now asked to authorize the President to send troops to head off military aggression that—judging by her successful program of the past 12 years—in all probability Russia has not intention of making.

DEBATE ON MIDDLE-EAST RESOLUTION
(Taken from Congressional Record, Jan. 30, 1957)

Mr. Burdick (R-N. Dak.): "Do the members of congress realize what the Security Council of the United Nations is? Who controls it? Who directs its course? Who handles all equipment for troops? Who sends directions to commanders? Who received reports from commanders.

"Since 1946 a Russian Communist has held that position. At this very hour a Russian Communist is secretary. Yet this resolution definitely keeps up this relation. Where do you think we will get in stopping Russia in aggression, with one of their own Communists in control of the forces sent against them?"

Mr. Hays (D-Ohio): "Take the case of the distinguished visitor (King Saud) who is here in Washington today, seeking money. He had an income last year of $360 million, the equivalent of $180 for every man, woman, and child in his kingdom. Yet the Saudi Arabians get along on a $40 per person net yearly income. The king's income for himself and family was $360 million. . . . Oh, the king has a thousand Cadillacs, air-conditioned, and gold-plated. Twenty eight air-conditioned palaces. He has 90 brothers on the public payroll drawing from $30,000 to $350,000 a year. We are told we cannot afford any tax reduction in this country; that the budget is too high. But we can afford to give money to King Saud because he has overdrawn his oil royalties."

KING SAUD AND HIS PEOPLE

Before we agree to support King Saud in the manner to which he is accustomed, we should take a look at his people.

1. Average life expectancy in Saudi Arabia is 33 years.
2. Tuberculosis is wide-spread.
3. Trachoma afflicts 70% of the people.
4. At least 40% of the people suffer with syphilis.
5. Saudi Arabia still has 250,000 slaves.
6. Nearly 28 million dollars a year are allotted to King Saud's household expenses, as against 11 millions for all public health, education, and social services combined.

Camellia and Azalea Shows to Open Sunday

If you can't get away for a vacation in the Deep South, don't fret about it too much. You can roam the Azalea trails of Chicago, now in full bloom in the Garfield Park Conservatory. And the 250,000 people who attended the Chicago Park district's Azalea and Camellia shows last year will tell you it's the closest thing to being in flowering Southland itself.

For three weeks, starting Sunday, Feb. 10, and continuing thru to Sunday, March 3, there will be many thousands of blooming flowers on exhibit at both the Garfield and Lincoln park conservatories. The doors will be open at both places from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day during that period.

There are about 1600 azalea plants at Garfield park alone, many of them from four to six feet tall and some with thousands of flowers on them. About 10 camellia plants, forsythia shrubs and flowering quince will add to the beauty. The predominant colors range from white to pink, salmon, orange, and red and with a delightful sprinkling of lavender.

Along the winding walks, also at Garfield, are a number of moss covered trees to add a touch of realism. A rock garden resembling a southern mountain cliff, has a cascading waterfall, surrounded by a great array of hyacinths, tulips and narcissi, among others. And the well, with the moss covered bucket, is there too.

Another pleasant thought for stay at homes, the Chicago Park District puts on the greatest indoor flower show in the world free of charge.

Righteousness

RIGHTEOUSNESS is an old-fashioned word. You almost never see it outside the Bible. But the thing itself is not old-fashioned; you can see it outside the Bible, nearly everybody wants it himself and everybody wants it for his neighbors. Even criminals count on it—in other people! The word originally came (in the Bible) from the Hebrew word meaning "straight." To this day everybody knows what the difference is between a straight man and a crooked one. We mean the same thing sometimes when we use only the first part of the word, "right." We like to be right, we like to have the right people around us. "He's just not right" is one of the worst things that can be said about a man. A righteous person is one that is all that he should be. He comes up to standard, there is nothing shoddy or make believe about him. To be sure, some people don't care about this; but then some people don't care whether they are healthy or clean.

Better Than the Best

One of the things Jesus said that must have sounded surprising at the time he said it, was that the righteousness of those who followed him must "exceed that of the Pharisees." Now the Pharisees made a specialty of righteousness. They were super-good, or aimed to be. They had money, and leisure, and they spent their time thinking up ways to be better than anybody. They were, so to speak, the athletes of morality. They held all the records for high jumps and pole vaults to the top levels of righteousness. Nobody else even tried to be as good as they were. So it must have astonished everybody, not to mention shocking the Pharisees, when Jesus as good as said they were not up to the standards of the kingdom of heaven. If we look into what Jesus said by way of explaining this astonishing remark, however, we can see three ways in which the Pharisees' idea of what it is to be right—right in the sight of God, that is—comes short of the true ideal. First of all, the Pharisees were interested in action only. Now acts are very important. But as Jesus explained it, actions come from inner attitudes, and where the attitude is wrong, acts are likely to be wrong too. True righteousness, or rightness, begins and has its roots in "the heart," the inner life, where thoughts begin. The truly right person will not be content with making a good showing, he wants to be right even if it never shows.

No Fences for Love

So the rightness Jesus demands goes deeper than what satisfied the Pharisees, ancient or modern. But he pointed out another difference. Jesus' ideal (which is God's ideal) of rightness is also broader than the Pharisees' brand. They loved their friends, they would do a great deal for those who did a lot for them. Jesus pointed out that anybody not a complete fool will do as much. "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours" is a philosophy almost anybody can understand. Loving people who love you—and no others—is like exchanging presents at Christmas time. Some people "give" a great many presents, at least they wrap them up and distribute them; but they don't give a thing unless they expect to get a present in return. The Pharisees, ancient and modern, know what love is; but they put a fence around it. They do not "waste" love on those who do not in some way pay them for it. Jesus went all the way—so far that to this day few of us dare to follow him. Love your enemies, he said. Love is good; the Pharisees were on the right track. But love must have no horizons.

Why Be Good?

The kind of rightness God wants has another sure mark: it has the right motive. The Pharisees wanted to be right so as to be admired by other men. But true rightness has just one motive: to be like our Father in heaven. To wish to be God,—to "play God," is wicked; but it is not wicked, it is the very heart of the truly good life, to love God so much, and know him so well (and never so well as in Christ) that one can think of nothing better than to be like him. All other motives fail, some time; but this one motive carries the secret of the power of God's true saints.

Must Mothers Work?, Asks Writer of Youth

by Robert C. Hendrikson,
(From his book, "Youth in Danger")

PAULIST FEATURE SERVICE
Ours is the age of two working parents. In millions of families both husband and wife are the breadwinners. Such a situation is obviously bad, but often it is unavoidable. A broken home or illness can force a mother to work to support her family. But these situations account for only a small fraction of the working mothers. What about the rest?

In many instances the mother is only working for 'extras.' She is risking the welfare of her children to keep up with the Joneses. No doubt she is sincere in her belief that what she is doing is best for her family. Often it is too late that she realizes her mistake.

Take the case of a family with four children in Iowa. After the three eldest had married and moved away, the mother decided to go to work to supplement the family income. The youngest child, a girl of fifteen, would take care of the dishes and keep the house clean.

For a time all went well. But an empty house has a tomb like quality. Soon the girl began to dread opening the door and stepping into the lifeless vacuum. Instead she spent her time with other children lonely and without guidance like herself. Before long she found herself in the Iowa Training School for Girls.

"You don't know how empty and cold a house can be when mother is not there to talk to you," the girl explained to the Training school superintendent. Her simple words sum up better than anything I can say the need a growing family has for the love and counsel of a mother. With no one at home to direct them, children are left to their own devices. When problems arise, as they certainly will, they must solve them in their own way.

But it is not enough for parents to be with their children. Equally important are the kind of precepts and example they offer them. A good home is a school of religious training where spiritual and moral values are impressed on the young along with their pabulum.

On their wedding day, all parents were entrusted with the serious duty of rearing the children. God would bless them with If they neglect giving their children the love and care they alone can give them, then they are depriving these children of their greatest need. What's more they are preparing fertile ground for juvenile delinquency.

Asks $100,000 in Suit Over Patent For Tire Repairs

(CNS) Suit for injunction and damages of $100,000 charging patent infringement in the south suburbs of a process for repairing inner tubes, was filed in Federal court Tuesday by John L. Pollock, of Lancaster, Calif., the inventor, and Linus J. Krainitz, of 1625 Pine road, Homewood a licensee.

Defendants are B. and W. Engineering and Machinery Works, Inc., 14218 Western, Blue Island; Hazel Crest Tire and Supply company, 17058 Dixie highway, Hazelcrest and Don Etycheson, 105 158th st., Harvey.

Krainitz, who holds an exclusive license for the process from the inventor in Cook and Lake counties, (Illinois), Lake in Indiana and Kenosha, Racine, and Milwaukee counties, (Wisconsin), charges he engaged Hazel Crest Tire and Supply for three years to solicit business in tube repairs, but that they have now started soliciting it for B. and W. Engineering.

Krainitz charges he hired Etycheson on May 9, 1951 and instructed him in the secrets of the process, and that Etycheson has now gone to work for B. and W. and communicated the secrets to them. Punitive damages are asked, to be determined by the court.

py in their new home, but still a little bewildered by it all.

Last Saturday they moved into an apartment on the second floor of the Bert Larson home, at junction 45 and 30. Since their arrival Wednesday night of last week, they had been living with the Robert Burns family.

The people of Frankfort have generously opened their hearts to the refugee family and the committee wishes to thank them for donations of furniture, linens, clothes and also the cash donations.

Mrs. Woodman, committee treasurer, has announced that $200.75 has been raised for the family, who will need to be subsidized for several weeks. The committee is trying to raise a total of $1,000. Contributions to the fund may be made to the Frankfort State bank. Checks should be made out to the Frankfort Hungarian Refugee committee. Names of donors will be published and an accounting will be made of funds expended.

The committee has announced however, that the family could still use some additional furniture such as double bed, chests of drawers, a play pen, occasional tables, table lamps, a floor lamp, davenport, chair, dresser and a high chair.

Anyone desiring to donate any of these items may call any of the following: Mrs. Leonard Robinson, Oregon st., Frankfort 2677, Mrs. Robert Burns, Walnut st., Frankfort 5126; Mrs. Milton Subert, Pacific st., Frankfort 4781, or Mrs. Wendell Morrison, Oak st., Frankfort 4732.

The family has wasted no time becoming acclimated to their new surroundings. Mr. Kovacs has a job and is glad to start working again. For 28 years he was an accountant in his native Budapest, and is now employed as a janitor in the Ford Stamping Plant in Chicago Heights. When he becomes more familiar with the English language, he hopes to return to his original profession.

The two children are now attending the Frankfort school. Clara is enrolled in the seventh grade and Nicholas, Jr. in the fifth grade.

The refugee committee reports the children are in need of more clothing, such as jeans, trousers sweaters, dresses and blouses. Anyone wishing to donate such items may contact Mrs. Burns.

Flee by Night

The Kovacs family fled during the recent Revolution with only a few personal belongings. Mr. Kovacs decided to escape with his family, after his father, who is 76 years old, and had been a banker, was relegated to a single room of his large estate, by the Russians, who seized everything he had. They spared only his crutches (he is a cripple) and his life, said Kovacs.

The family left by train Nov. 27, which carried them 70 miles out of Budapest. The remaining ten mile journey across the border into Austria was made at night by foot thru water and mud which at some places reached their knees. The shoes of Mrs. Kovacs and her daughter Clara were sucked off their feet in the muddy depths.

Mrs. Kovacs carried baby Victor strapped to her back while Mr. Kovacs carried their few personal belongings, on the trek to the border, and looked after the older children.

Mr. Kovacs revealed that one of his friends who held a government position in Hungary, was seized and imprisoned by the Russians.

America, he says, is a dreamland and the family find it very difficult to believe all of the events of the past two months have really happened.

Long Distance Delivery

Merrill Cooper, of Cooper-Show Ford agency in Frankfort, logged a lot of miles to make delivery on this Thunderbird. This picture was taken in White Plains, N. Y. after Mr. Cooper had turned over the keys of the car to the owner, Miss Shirley Klein, who resides in that community. The Frankfort dealers were recommended to Miss Klein by mutual friends.

perience with the caucus system which is in use in both of those communities.

Dickson described it as "highly successful," and Supt. Pease endorsed the plan highly because by following it a situation was brought about in which "the job seeks the man."

Members of the nominating committee named Monday night are Mrs. Donald Maue, Orland township; Robert Tobias, 124th and Wolf rd., Mrs. Earl Kunz, Palos Heights, Mrs. William Konetski, Hickory Hills; Herman Wilz, Old Creek road; Robert Montessor, North Palos and Mrs. Norman Martin, Palos Park Mrs. Elsa Retzke, Palos Park, a former member of the Sandburg board and Mrs. Harold Frostich, Hickory Hills.

The committee, its members agreed, would like to have suggestions from the public as to possible candidates.

Observers are of the opinion that if the two board members whose terms expire this year will become candidates they will get the endorsement of the caucus as apparently a majority of the people are entirely satisfied with the existing board. The members whose terms expire this year are Ralph Town of Orland and the Rev. J. M. Yarbrough.

Earl Cutler, of Palos Park, was chosen as head of the caucus executive committee and Norman Martin as secretary-treasurer.

Three were named as directors, Gordon Bendix, Laguna Woods, Mrs. Jerry Anderson, Orland Park and Gene Mayhaall, Palos Heights.

W. R. Blew, president of the Sandburg school board, as spokesman for the other members, endorses the caucus system.

"I am heartily in favor of the proposed community caucus for Carl Sandburg high school District No. 230 and unhesitatingly offer my congratulations to the PTA for promoting this new organization in our community," Mr. Blew's statement reads. "The real effectiveness of the caucus probably will depend to a large degree upon the co-operation, judgment, and good will of the delegates, as well as upon their perseverance in searching for competent candidates."

"Most people would agree, I think, that election to a board of education is a signal honor. Only a few people however, are cognizant of the large amount of time required for effective participation; indeed, it can be said that board meetings, study, and special projects all combine to make significant inroads on the time of board members. A well qualified school board member is devoted to the educational welfare of the children, enjoys working cooperatively with others and, above all, is endowed with ample old fashioned common sense. It should be remembered, moreover, that the operation of a school has many business aspects involving such matters as transportation, cafeteria and book store operation, building construction and maintenance, insurance, purchasing, financing, etc.; and for that reason, I believe that business executives as well as others, are needed on school boards to assist in dealing with such problems.

"I have endeavored to highlight some of the reasons behind my strong belief that school board candidates should be drafted rather than self-chosen. That is why the idea of a community caucus appeals to me. I am confident that our new Community Caucus will be well-manned and, with the sincere and active support of the community, can be expected to benefit the students of Carl Sandburg high school."

heavy industrial.

Class A, residential includes single family dwellings, churches, schools, libraries or museums, public parks and playgrounds, governmental buildings. Class B, residential includes those uses set forth in Class A, plus apartment buildings not to exceed four families, boarding and lodging houses, private schools, hospitals for human beings and private clubs not used for hotel purposes.

No building can be erected on a lot in Class A or B that is of less area than 7,500 square feet if said building is to be used as a single family dwelling. An apartment can be built on a lot with less space.

The other classifications pretty well explain themselves, it was pointed out.

All uses are set forth in great detail and copies of the ordinance, which appeared as a legal notice in the Orland Park Herald Jan. 24, this year, will be available for distribution after the ordinance becomes effective.

Trustee I. A. Cleveland acted as presiding officer at the council meeting Monday because of the absence of Mayor W. R. Schussler, who is in Texas. The ordinance was passed unanimously. Village attorney Pieper has forwarded the ordinance to the mayor for his signature. Village Clerk Bretland A. Blair has already placed his signature on the measure and 10 days after it is signed by the mayor the instrument will be in effect.

Three building permits were approved by the board, one for a new house for John Meier, West ave., that is to cost $18,500 one to Bob Miller, Mercury distributor, for a new building to serve his agency, and one to Harold Ison for remodeling at his home at 14346 Raney Lane for $1,500.

Robert Miller, who is building inspector for Orland Park, has reported that in some instances persons have started work on buildings without first getting a permit and he asked for instructions from the board.

The board instructed him to list all builders who have permits with police so that if they see building going on in places for which no permits have been granted they can halt the work.

A new building code ordinance is being drawn up now in which such matters will be taken care of in simple form. It was indicated that no construction work is to be done without a permit being posted in plain sight. Where no such permit is in evidence police will make arrests.

The board also was to make a recommendation relative to the garage operated by Louis Cooper. Cooper also stores some cars on the premises. The question before the board is whether the presence of such cars makes the place a junk yard.

West said that the law in such cases is that a garage is permitted to store cars that have been wrecked until damage claims have been settled by insurance companies. If they continue to store them after claims are settled then they classify as a junk yard. There is no provision for a junk yard in Orland Park.

A Place of Permanent Burial

A COMMUNITY MAUSOLEUM
FOR ST. JOHN'S CEMETERY

MOKENA, ILLINOIS

(Copyright 1952 by Harrell & Company)

Patents Applied For

Registered in Canada

THE MAUSOLEUM

Final arrangements have been completed with the St. John's cemetery board for the construction of a Community Mausoleum in this city. The building will be as fine as money, art and science can build. The exterior walls will be of time defying Bedford Stone and marble, the inner walls of hardest reinforced concrete. All metal work will be of copper and bronze. Since the first mausoleum was built in 353 B. C., which still exists, for King Mausolus (from whence we get the word mausoleum) such improvement in building materials has been made, that a double walled structure such as this is almost indestructible. It is of such strength that after a few hundred years when present cemeteries are obscure and present grave markers are lost, leaning or fallen, this building will stand out little if any the worse for the time it has stood, as stone becomes harder with time.

PROGRESSIVENESS

A growing demand for the Community Mausoleum is shown by the fact that so many such structures have been and are being built. While this particular section of the country have a few at the present time, in many sections of the United States they are predominant. In the past the excessive cost has made this type of burial out of reach of the average man but now it is actually cheaper than the average ground burial.

OUR DUTY TO THE LIVING

Since the beginning of time it has been man's custom to reverence his dead and it becomes a comforting thought in any age to know that one has done all possible and has given his loved one the most suitable resting place which the present time has to offer. This building provides a place where families may lie side by side in snow white compartments, high and dry, where neither water, dampness nor mold can enter. Embalming has reached such a high state of perfection that if a body is kept dry it will retain its present condition for centuries to come. This was true in Egyptian burials because they buried where water and dampness was non-existent, however water or moisture quickly nullifies all of this.

To make provisions for a final resting place, which will be secure, ready, and one which cannot be molested, is not only a duty owed to our dead but is evidence to the living of our desire for their well being both now and for always. To put off arrangements until the time arrives is no better business than omitting other business transactions until the last moment. In the case of death the grief is so great and decisions so numerous that many regrettable and unchangeable mistakes are made.

THERE IS A BETTER WAY

From time immemorial it has been customary in Europe for families to select a final resting place for their members in advance of actual needs. This sensible practice has now become the custom in America among thinking men and women.

Death is no respecter of person or persons, and sooner or later every family must face bereavement. The average death follows a period of heavy expenses, often accompanied by loss of income. The insurance that was intended for the care of the loved ones or the education of the children is depleted and the family left in debt.

A final resting place must be selected within a limited time, regardless of finances, weather, mental anguish or personal inconvenience. Frequently the choice has necessarily been left to a disinterested outsider and too often have such hasty arrangements been the cause of everlasting regrets. It is often true that these sad but absolutely necessary arrangements are hampered by lack of adequate funds or lack of time and mental poise for the exercise of one's best judgment. We consign the mortal remains to a shallow earthly grave over which we have scant control at present and probably none in the future. A drive through a cemetery which is no longer in use will show how quickly earthly burial is blotted out, the grave and stone obliterated.

Only when the mind is undisturbed by grief or financial uncertainty, can this important duty be disposed of calmly and intelligently. Every family deserves the protection which the ownership of Mausoleum space offers.

REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD SECURE SPACE

Because: The same business judgment demands it, that prompts you to save money, to carry life insurance and to make your will. Now in the calm of health you can consider and choose that which you think is best, an almost impossibility when a death occurs and the family's mind and judgment is racked with despair.

Because: Mausoleum entombment is a scientific and civilized, as well as a sentimental mode of caring for the dead. The only way to keep a body perfectly preserved after it has been embalmed is by keeping moisture and dampness away from it.

Because: At present the cost is no more and in most cases not as much as ground burial when a lot, monument, steel vault and other cemetery expenses are considered. The Building is the monument, far surpassing in size and beauty any other form of monument or memorial.

Because: This mode of entombment is both reasonable and scriptural. Our Lord was laid in a rock hewn crypt and early Christians followed this custom. The wealthier class of people used this type of burial almost exclusively for many centuries and most of our national heroes have been buried in stone tombs or mausoleums. Some of which include Grant, Lincoln, Garfield, Washington and McKinley. Modern mausoleums now make this type of burial in reach of almost everyone.

Because: When you place the familiar form of any of your loved ones in this memorial, it will be a great comfort to know that they are at rest in a clean, dry, place free from the disagreeable features of ground burial.

Because: Preparation is wisdom's cure for worry—the only cure. Insuring the house does not prepare it to burn, but prepares us to live without worry as to the ever present possibility of it burning. Providing for mausoleum protection is not preparing to die, it is preparation to live without worry as to the ever present possibility of loved ones dying and being placed in damp cold graves.

Because: It is an investment. It cannot be damaged or destroyed and will be worth more in later years than it is now. Due to the fact that when a Community Mausoleum is built in a town this size, all space is contracted for before it is built; therefore space is limited to those who have bought, and cannot be used except by those, unless one of the owners desires to sell his or her interests.

THE INEVITABLE - FOR WHICH WE SHOULD PREPARE

If you desire to be prepared and assure yourself and family a permanent and clean resting place, you should inquire for particulars about the mausoleum to be erected in your city. The cost now is in most cases not as much as ground burial when all expenses are considered. Reservation should be made early because the amount of space is limited. In the event of death between the time of securing space and the completion of the Mausoleum, the expense of renting a receiving vault will be borne by the company. In the event anyone has relatives already buried in the ground and desires them space, arrangements can be made for the transfer.

WHERE WILL YOU PLACE YOUR LOVED ONES

You have the choice of only three modes of burial. Ground burial which means a cold, black, damp grave. Cremation in which fire blots out name, form and memory. Burial in a mausoleum with its dry snow white compartments of stone and marble. Which shall it be? Eventually you must decide.

This project is being financed and supervised by John R. Lilly of 214 Ashland Ave., River Forest, Illinois, FOrest 9-8050. Anyone desiring information, photographs, etc., please contact either Mr. Lilly or Mrs. Willis Liston of Liston's Sweet Shop Mokena 2081, who is the local representative for the Community Mausoleum. There will be no obligation whatsoever on your part for a detailed explanation of this subject. It will be an asset to you, to the cemetery and to the community.

The Lincoln Log

Lincoln-Way PTG

The February meeting of the Lincoln-Way Parent Teacher group was held in the cafeteria Wednesday evening, Feb. 6. Loren Schleeter, chairman of the program committee, introduced H. Neil Hardy who was in charge of the program.

Mr. Hardy appeared as sponsor of the Camera Club. Two of the club's forty members, Don Korsgaard, senior, and Dave McQuire, junior, spoke on various phases of photography and aspects of good picture taking.

Don discussed the camera and camera setting while Dave dealt with picture composition. Both illustrated their points with slides demonstrating good and bad qualities of photography. Other materials such as mounted pictures were on exhibition.

Dr. Wright reminded parents of the student registration which is to be completed within the next two weeks. During that time the Lincoln-Way boys and girls will be planning their programs for the remainder of their high school years.

The next meeting of PTG will be March 6.

Chef Party

The officers of the Future Homemakers of America at Lincoln-Way high school had a Chef party Wednesday Jan. 30.

It was a boy friend's party and when the boys arrived they were told they had to cook the dinner. The fried chicken and cherry pies were prepared before hand but the rest of the dinner was prepared by the boys. They made french fried potatoes, tossed salad, baked dinner rolls and cooked cream corn. And it was good.

CARL SANDBURG
HIGH SCHOOL
by Hilda Geuther

Attend Music Conference

Five members of the Carl Sandburg Music department attended the All state music activity sponsored by the music extension division of the University of Illinois and the Illinois Music Educators Association at Springfield, Feb. 1 and 2. Marsha Vleck, Joyce Kasper, Ron Bergman and Tom Holz were selected for the all state chorus and Frank Liston for the all state senior band.

Approximately twelve hundred high school students participated. These students were chosen on the basis of their musicianship and ability and represented the best students in the state.

Outstanding conductors in the choral and instrumental field led the rehearsals which culminated in a concert on Saturday afternoon in which each All State organization, namely Junior Band, Junior Orchestra, Senior Band, Senior Orchestra and Massed Chorus, presented their numbers.

It was an excellent concert and a thrilling spectacle to see so many wonderful young people engaged in such a worthwhile pursuit. The concert was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Vleck, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Liston and Mrs. Milton Potter.

Mrs. Mary E. Pearson and Mr. Milton Potter of Sandburg's music department accompanied the students to Springfield.

School Study

Carl Sandburg consolidated high school is presently the subject of a comprehensive study being conducted by the midwest administration center of the University of Chicago.

For the past two years, this center, sponsored jointly by the university and the W. K. Kellogg foundation, has been conducting research in the public schools thru out the midwest. The purpose of the research is to develop principles of administration and methods of school operation designed to improve the effectiveness of public education.

Carl Sandburg high was selected by the university to participate in such a study for the school year 1956-57. One research associate Willard S. Congreve, is spending two to three days a week in the school conducting an exhaustive study of the entire operation. The results of this and other current studies will be published in national educational journals.

Federal money is available under Public Law 566 to help local organizations plan and operate watershed programs for flood control.

Wilted Wife?

Get her an Electric dryer... the kind that's fully automatic, fume-free, fast and thrifty!

Any woman who has an electric dryer could tell that "wilted wife" it's just like having a "sun" of your own.

It's true. Because electric heat is clean, dry and radiant just like the heat that comes from the sun. So everything you dry electrically comes out sweet smelling and fluffy.

Of course, all electric dryers are automatic. Fully automatic! They're safe for all of your clothes—even the delicate new synthetics. Fast, too! You can dry a load of cottons in 25 or 30 minutes. (Just 6¢ worth of electricity will do the job.)

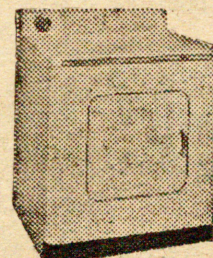

All of the new "no-vent" dryers are electric. Heat, lint and moisture are disposed of automatically. So your laundry area stays clean, dry and comfortable.

And, look! You don't have to wait to get an electric dryer. They cost less to buy than any other kind. Why not see the new models today!

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles prepared by local clergy designed to produce greater church attendance between now and Easter.

Many years ago a Hebrew poet said, "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the House of the Lord." Perhaps it was the same poet who also said, "Those who are planted in the House of the Lord shall flourish in the courts of the Lord."

Certain it is, that he found a wholesome good in the experience of worship. Those moments spent in the temple were moments of real value for his soul.

Worship was to him, no doubt, the response of an inward tide as would allow us to describe it in the eloquent words of Shakespeare:

"There are tides in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune; Omitted, all the voyage of their life is bound in shallows and in miseries."

Truly, "The Answer Is God". Worship him regularly.

Thought for the Day

Read John 8:12-20.

That was the Light, which lightenth every man that cometh into the world (John 1:9).

While I was passing Singapore one night, the water was calm. There were several light-houses around. As I stood on our ship, I was fascinated by the fact that regardless of the direction from which they came, the beams of light from each lighthouse made a path of light to my feet.

It seemend as if the beams were for me only, until I realized they were for anyone who cared to see them.

If it were possible for all persons in the world to stand in any direction in sight of a light-house, the beams would reach all persons.

So it is with God's love; it is like a beam shining in every direction providing a two-way communication channel between God and us. God extends His love to every believer in the world and to the nonbeliever also. Christ has said: "All that the Father giveth me shall come to me; and him that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out."

PRAYER

Dear heavenly Father, we thank Thee for Thy faithfulness to us. Give us the willingness to see Thy Light and incline our hearts to walk in it. In the name of Jesus Christ, our Light, we pray. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Before God and among my fellow men I will walk in the light of Christ.

Harry R. Blount (New York)

Former Personnel of USS Arizona to Hold 1st Reunion

The first annual reunion of former officers and enlisted personnel who served on board the USS Arizona has been officially set for March 2, 1957 at the Jack Kennedy Center, Naval Base, Terminal Island, Long Beach, Calif.

The USS Arizona is still officially in commission as a ship of the U. S. Navy. That part of her superstructure which projects above the waters of Pearl Harbor serves as a memorial to all those who died at Pearl Harbor.

All former officers and enlisted men who served on board the USS Arizona from date of commissioning to Pearl Harbor Day are urged to immediately contact G. G. Bertok at 12122 Robert Lane, Garden Grove, Calif. In addition, widows and relatives of men who were lost at Pearl Harbor, are also invited to attend the first annual reunion.

The county extension council helps plan programs of interest to Cook county farmers. Chairman Charles Erickson, Mokena, and all members of the council can be proud of their accomplishments. Over 900 farm people have attended the last four extension educational meetings.

Among the 15 ladies attending were two new residents, Mrs. William Bell, whose home is next to the Raymond Cebolds home and Mrs. White who is a neighbor of Mrs. Weiss. Mr. and Mrs. White have been residents of Laguna for the past week.

Blue and Gold Dinner

Laguna's Cub Scouts attended the Blue and Gold dinner last Thursday evening with their pack at the Orland Park Legion hall. A planned pot luck dinner was held and the pack furnished cake, coffee, chocolate milk and ice cream.

Bruce Niebrugge received his Bear badge and Mark Vonsee, Norman Hegyi and John McBride were initiated into the Pack.

An Indian ceremonial was held and authentic tribal dances were done in honor of the Cubs who received their Wolf and Bear badges and in honor of the boys who are working on their Lion badges. Ricky Eckol took flash pictures of the Indians in ceremonial costumes while they were dancing (everyone is eager to borrow the negatives). An impressive and graceful dance was the Eagle, skilfully danced by two young bucks depicting the stalking brave and the other Eagle in flight. The dancers were Eagle, Explorer and Cub Scouts from the Bradford Park area.

Mr. and Mrs. William Robison, the former Carol Tabbert are temporarily living with her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Tabbert. Mrs. Tabbert is caring for her daughter who has high blood pressure and must remain in bed. Carol, who has 17 parakeets which she has raised and kept as pets has decided to part with some of her birds.

If you would like to attend the Fashion show next Monday evening and haven't transportation call Mrs. Anderson.

Rising demand for coal is expected by experts to require development of at least 600 million tons of new capacity by 1970, at an investment of around $6 billion. It is estimated that new mine development now costs about $10 per ton of annual capacity.

Park Forest Stores Will Send Couple to New Orleans Carnival

The first Mardi Gras of Value to be staged by the merchants in Park Forest Shopping Center opens today and will continue thru tomorrow and Saturday.

As a result of this merchandising Mardi Gras some lucky couple will go to New Orleans March 2 to enjoy the festivities that mark the famed Mardi Gras carnival held yearly in that city.

The couple will not only have an all expense five-day visit in New Orleans but will have some extras too in the way of special gifts from various merchants, including dinners in famous New Orleans restaurants and if they have youngsters to leave at home there will be funds to meet baby sitting fees.

Everyone who comes to the Park Forest Shopping Center this weekend is invited to register in any of the participating stores whose advertisements are carried in this issue. Registration began Feb. 8 and will continue thru Saturday, Feb. 16. Special boxes are provided for deposit of entry blanks.

It is not necessary to buy anything in order to register. All visitors are welcome to do so.

The winning couple will fly to

New Orleans March 2, via Delta Airlines, and will be met there by a representative of Happiness Tours, who will make the arrangements for their stay.

They will see both the new and the old sections of the city, the old, of course, including the famous French Quarter.

The couple will also have reserved seats for the Krewe of Rex and Zulu parades. They also will have a trip on a Mississippi river boat and be guests of Happiness Tours at a Mardi Gras dinner dance in the Tulane Room at the Jung hotel.

Park Forest Merchants have gone all out to make this trip a memorable one for the lucky couple.

Translated from the French, Mardi Gras is Fat Tuesday. In English it is known as Shrove Tuesday and sometimes as Pancake Tuesday because of the need of using up fats which were prohibited during Lent. Lent begins the next day, Ash Wednesday which this year falls on March 6.

Mardi Gras thus marks the close of the carnival season which once began on Epiphany but is now usually celebrated the last three days before Lent.

mortgages, etc.

"The modern securities markets now offer the small investor opportunities that formerly were not available even to the comparatively substantial investor. Mutual Funds offer the small investor an opportunity to secure wide diversification in the highest grade common stocks. The small investor can acquire an interest in these Mutual Funds for as little as $250, and can then accrue additional shares each month or quarterly as he would in a savings account and in sums as little as $25.

"The saving of 'fixed dollars' or cash, is a very considerable risk when the change in purchasing power of the dollar is considered.

"From 1929 to 1932 a matter of $45 billion was lost in the value of common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, but during the period 1946 to 1952, $76 billion was lost in the purchasing power of outstanding insurance, savings deposits and 'fixed dollar' investments by individuals.

"The person who earned $5,000 sixteen years ago, has to earn $10,490 today to live as well. Assuming 1939 as a base of dollar purchasing power value, the $5,000 income paid an income tax of only $59.00 with a net of $4,941. On this basis, the individual would have to have an income of about $10,000 as from this sum, his taxes would be $1,478 and inflation cost about $4,071 with a net of about $4,941. The man making $10,000 sixteen years ago must now receive $22,340 to have the same net income today.

"Dollar devaluation or rise in the cost of living has a way of subsidizing or resting and giving a false sense of security and then spiraling up again without warning. An annual average increase of 3% in the cost of living does not seem great, but such a 3% annual increase compounds into doubling the price level in 23 years.

"As is shown on the large cost of living chart, at the close of 1955, it took $14,742 to purchase the commodities which could have been purchased ten years previously for $10,000. In terms of return on investment to just keep abreast of this loss in purchasing power, the investor must have received a return of at least 4 3/4%. This fact, of course, has a heavy influence on the rate of return demanded by the investor. To attract investors on a voluntary basis, government bonds must pay considerably higher interest rates. And this, in turn, is further pressure of an inflationary nature as interest alone at 3% on a $300 billion debt, would be $9 billion.

"It is said that inflation or erosion of the dollar is merely a capital levy against the people whose political power is the least. Those living on pensions, trust funds, etc. with fixed dollar returns, suffer the greatest harm and are, politically, able to do the least about it. At present, however, the effects of decrease in purchasing power of the dollar are affecting wide segments of the population. Therefore there is much in the press about its harm, but little done in a concrete way.

"I believe, that most people rather like inflation in so far as their own products and services are concerned, but would like to see a bit more deflation and dollar stability as regards the products and services of his supplier.

"The government budget does not indicate any really serious desire to bring about a halting of public works which are adding to the inflationary pressures.

"Some cynics express the belief that there has been a deliberate plan for lowering dollar purchasing power in order to progressively lighten the load of the present national debt. They point to the following as evidence of this:

The Gold Reserve Act of 1934.
The Federal Reserve Board Act of 1935.

The Full Employment Act of 1946.

"The Gold Reserve Act repealed the obligation of the Federal Reserve Bank to convert paper currency into gold on request. This removed controls on the supply of money. The Federal Reserve Board Act of 1935 placed control of the supply of money in the hands of the newly created Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System. The Full Employment Act of 1946 has received less news coverage, but is most significant. This act directs the Federal Reserve Board of Governors to encourage and maintain a high level of wages and employment. Reuther of the CIO is said to have been the sponsor of this act. In any case it directs the Board of Governors to use its power over credit and money to insure a high level of economic activity. This could mean that if a large industrial union raises costs so it prices itself out of the market with resultant unemployment, the Board of Governors must step in and use its money and credit powers to stimulate employment.

"The present tremendous labor unions and their power in industry-wide bargaining, is a pressure group with large power both industrially and politically. These various unions also now have large aggregates of money in their pension and welfare funds. They are important stockholders in many firms. In at least one publically announced situation, Mr. Beck of the teamsters Union bought a large block of Montgomery Ward stock during the Avery-Wolfson fight and advised he was supporting Avery. Incidentally, he also received a contract with Montgomery Ward for the first time.

"The large powers accruing to leaders of these unions and the bulging treasuries, naturally attract competition for power.

If one big union such as the steel workers gets a substantial raise in total benefits, the auto workers' union must secure an equally advantageous group of benefits or the leader of this union loses his relative standing.

"They must, therefore, fight for increases the leaders themselves know to be faster than the increased productivity of labor. Any increase in benefits above this productivity is borrowing from future increases in production per man hour. This excess demand must be added to the costs of the items produced.

"Many people assume that when steel prices are raised by an amount such as 6%, that products using such steel products will increase prices to the public by only this 6%. However it is not this simple. The increase to user will reflect the number of times the steel is processed before final stage.

"For example the automobile manufacturers assemble items made by other manufacturers. The manufacturer increase his price to the auto manufacturer by the steel price increase, plus his corporate tax charge of 52% and his normal profit margin. Each manufacturer has to include the corporate tax in his price. A basic steel increase of 6% could easily become 12 or 13% when the item reaches the consumer.

"I do not believe that any really serious effort will be made to control price increases. The steps that would be necessary as to controlling wages and price freezes, would undoubtedly bring about political complaints that most politicians would not care to face. Even the comparatively small steps to control borrowing with so-called 'tight money' has caused very considerable complaints and political pressure. Any attempts to control inflation must pinch some part of the economy and some will be hurt. Unions will naturally blame manufacturers for price increases and manufacturers will probably continue to submit to constant wage-price spiral, in the form of refusal to buy merchandise at higher levels. Naturally customer resistance will not be equal in all industries.

Angland Discusses "Erosion" of Dollar at Lincoln-Way Adult School

(Editor's Note: Writers and commentators have loosed a flood of words lately dealing with the economic situation. The prime word has been "inflation," and Maurice P. Angland who writes a financial column for this paper and is now conducting a course on investments in the Adult Night School program at Lincoln-Way high, takes exception to this. He calls it "erosion." The article published here is a transcript of the lecture he gave to his class week.)

"Since the first recorded history of a monetary unit, there has been a constant erosion of its purchasing power. This general trend in lowering of purchasing power of the unit of exchange, has been halted and reversed from time to time in comparatively short-lived periods of deflation rather than inflation. These deflation periods occur only in times of economic stress and what we term depressions.

"We hear much talk of restoring the purchasing power of the dollar. It is not often clear to which particular level they desire to restore this value. Restoring purchasing power of the dollar to any previous level would mean shrinking the standards of living, the value of the home, the incomes, etc., which was experienced by many during the great depression of the '30's.

"There has never been, to my knowledge, an extended period when there has been a continued increase in the purchasing power of the dollar. The trend is constantly downward.

"In olden times the person saving money and seeking protection against depreciation of the monetary unit, would buy precious stones, gold, and any other commodities which could be stored or hidden easily and which would not deteriorate while stored. Their risk was mainly against bandits.

"The use of corporate structure for business enterprises is of comparatively recent origin. It enabled industrial expansion far greater than likely where an industry was owned by an individual or few individuals. Purchase and ownership of common stock in such industries represent a proportionate ownership of the particular industry with the right to share in its profits and also its losses.

"The federal government and most states have enacted special laws governing the issuance of securities of these corporations. These laws and regulations demand full disclosure of financial data covering the operation of these corporations. The New York Stock Exchange and most of the other stock exchanges have even more stringent requirements as to information disclosure.

"As late as 1930, many corporations did not publish anything but the most general information as to the operation of the corporation. Corporate management seemed to feel that the stockholder not in the management had no right to intimate information on his own company. The buying of common stock was based on hunch and guess rather than published and audited figures. The president of one large chemical firm stated publicly that he did not care what stockholders outside the management thought or did and that such stockholders should take the word of the management, as to internal company conditions. He was forced to change this attitude largely by the New York Stock Exchange which proposed to bar that company's securities from trading privileges if his company did not comply on full disclosure with frequent financial reports to enable periodic examination and comparison with other firms in the same industry.

"As a result of the developments in full disclosure of financial records, common stocks are now used as a favored investment vehicle. Those with a wide market ability are naturally the most favored as they represent ownership of plant and equipment which will tend to follow changes in the purchasing power of the dollar.

"History shows us that the average market value of a selected list of better grade common stocks, rise in value as the dollar depreciates. They have become a favorite vehicle for protection and saving of purchasing power as distinguished from 'fixed dollar' obligations as savings accounts, bonds, real estate

Hold Taxpayers Responsible for Accuracy of Income Tax Returns

Taxpayers of the Chicago district were cautioned today by District Director H. Alan Long of the internal revenue service that they are responsible for the accuracy of the information in their income tax returns. Preparation of their 1956 tax forms by revenue personnel is no guarantee that the returns will not be audited.

"When we or anyone else help the taxpayer prepare a return," Mr. Long said, "such assistance is no guarantee that the return is accepted as correct and not subject to either preliminary review or later complete audit."

"Every year taxpayers come to us for help and appear very disturbed to learn this. Our agents who prepare or assist are merely following the information provided by taxpayer. No matter who prepares a return, the taxpayer or taxpayers who sign it are responsible for its accuracy, Mr. Long emphasized. "They must be prepared to back up all entries; to prove all claims. To us, returns prepared by revenue personnel or by outside sources are no different than those on which the individual taxpayer has worked himself for hours to do a thorough and accurate job."

"It is essential for taxpayers to keep all records relating to their returns for at least three years after the filing date," Mr. Long added.

Name Forest Tract in Worth After Woman

(CNS) A new 400 acre forest preserve in Worth township has been named in honor of County Commissioner Elizabeth A. Conkey. It will be known as the Elizabeth A. Conkey Forest and lies north of 135th st., east of Ridgeland ave., south of 131st st., and west of Central ave. along Tinley Creek.

"I thought you had to be dead before they did a thing like this for you," Mrs. Conkey exclaimed in surprise. A resolution naming the forest in her honor was adopted Monday by the county board sitting as the forest preserve board. Mrs. Conkey has been a county and forest preserve member since 1934.

Charles G. Sauers, general forest preserve district superintendent, said the land was acquired in the past two years at a cost ranging from $600 to $1,000 an acre. Within it is a heavily wooded section and a portion of Tinley Creek.

The new preserve area lies immediately north of and connects with the present Tinley Creek Woods forest preserve.

"I want to extend my warm thanks to all of you for paying this great honor to me," said Mrs. Conkey. "I really appreciate your thought and I wish I knew where it originated."

It was then disclosed that the resolution was sponsored by board president Daniel Ryan and by past presidents William N. Erickson and Clayton F. Smith. Erickson and Smith still serve as county commissioners.

Methodists Give $41,046 to Aid Hungarians

Methodists in Illinois have given $41,046 for Hungarian relief in a special offering taken in December and January.

Total giving by Methodists in the United States for this offering amounted to $333,657.23 thru Jan. 28, according to the Council on World Service and Finance in Chicago. The Rev. Dr. Thomas B. Lugg, treasurer, said receipts from many churches throughout Methodism hadn't been received at his office yet.

The special appeal for Hungarian relief was authorized by the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church in their meeting Dec. 11. Methodist Committee For Overseas Relief will administer the funds.

Giving by Conferences in Illinois included $17,886.09, Rock River Conference (northern Illinois); $15,593.54, Illinois Conference (central Illinois); and $7,567.25, Southern Illinois Conference.

Breakdown of the giving by districts is as follows:
Rock River Conference: Chicago Northern, $6,082.41; Chicago Southern, $3,256.85; Chicago Western, $2,163; Joliet-Dixon, $2,483.83; and Rockford, $3,900.

Illinois Conference: Bloomington, $1,500; Champaign, $2,329.44; Decatur, $3,061; Galesburg, $2,560; Jacksonville, $1,510.92; Peoria, $2,215.40; and Springfield $2,416.78.

Southern Illinois Conference: Carbondale, $1,720.34; East St. Louis, $1,328.65; Harrisburg, $2,063.14, and Olney, $2,455.12.

Churches with the highest giving included First Methodist Church, Evanston, $1,312; and Grace Methodist Church, Decatur, $1,300.

The offering will be used for food, clothing, and other relief items in Hungary and for the Methodist share in responsibility for resettling refugees.

Laboratory tests on vibrating small grain metering devices show them to be accurate to within 5 percent of the desired rate within the ranges of 2 to 32 pounds a minute.

What is likely to happen next year may be interesting, but it will not be as important for the investor as the economic picture five or ten years hence.

To refresh our memory of the probable shape and size of the economy in the middle 1960's, we have taken another look at the report for a Joint Committee of Congress titled "Potential Economic Growth of the United States During the Next Decade." The forecasts are as stimulating today as when the report first appeared in 1954. In fact the growth of the economy during the ensuing two years puts a sort of "stamp of approval" on those predictions.

These forecasts prepared by the staff of the congressional joint committee on the economic report were qualified by the assumption, among others, that our country will not have been involved in a war or other catastrophe. The 1965 dollar figures are expressed in dollars of 1953 buying power.

The decline in the "Annual Hours of Work in Industry" by 12 per cent, will, in the opinion of some economists, create a $20 billion market for recreational goods and services. The anticipated increase of 22 million in our country's population is one of the major forces working for growth throughout the economy. These additional people will create additional demands for food, shelter, clothing, automobiles, and other essentials and non-essentials.

A few of them are in the table below where they are compared with some economic facts for 1956. The investor can be pardoned for looking first at the last item in the table—corporate dividends. In the long run, corporate dividends are the principal element in establishing levels of common stock prices. The forecast that dividends will be 56% greater in 1965 than in 1956 does not of itself signify that stock prices in 1965 will be correspondingly higher; factors other than dividends help establish stock prices. However a potential gain of the proportions indicated in the chart, gives cause for cheer to long term investors.

ward for Bradley university at Peoria, until he had to resign from the squad in his sophomore year because of a leg injury.

Upon his retirement from active play, Broderick was signed by Peoria's Blaine Sumner high school to coach their team.

Broderick graduated from Bradley with a speech major, received a masters degree from the same university in speech and hearing pathology, and then went to work for Bradley as assistant director of its Speech and Hearing clinic.

He was drafted into the service in September, 1955 and played on the first string of the Headquarters, 6th Army team, while in basic training.

After being assigned to the 13th battalion, he met the organizer of the Tinley Teen club, Joseph McCarthy. McCarthy, upon learning of Broderick's experience as a basketball coach, explained that the club holds dances for high schoolers on Fridays, picnics and parties on Saturdays but, in so far as the recreational division of the Community's club was concerned, little was being done in the winter months. On a Wednesday evening, in December, the high school gym doors were thrown open, basketballs were passed out, and Broderick offered the club his services. The clinic was started. Wednesday evening athletic participation since has almost doubled.

With all this outside community work, is Pfc. Broderick still keeping up with his army duties? His battalion must think so. Broderick has won the 13th's "Soldier of the Month" honor twice in the past eight months.

Pfc. Thomas G. Broderick, at Katonah, N.
